

ELIGIBILITY CHECKLIST FOR SECTION 504 DISABILITY IN LEARNING

To qualify for accommodations for a disability in learning under Section 504, a student must have a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits his/her learning.

If the student needs individually designed instruction due to the severity of the impairment, then the student should be referred for evaluation and possible placement under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEIA) and West Virginia State Board of Education Policy 2419.

If a student does not need accommodations or modifications at school beyond those normally made available to all students, then s/he is not eligible for a Section 504 Accommodation Plan.

The following questions will help guide the IAT in determining whether the student's learning is substantially limited as a result of the impairment. Generally, there should be multiple indications of difficulty before the committee determines the student's learning is substantially limited.

Yes	No
___	___	1.	Has the student demonstrated a consistent need for substantially more time to complete homework assignments than required by students without disabilities?
___	___	2.	Has the student demonstrated a consistent need for substantially more time to complete in-class assignments than required by students without disabilities?
___	___	3.	Does the student consistently need modified testing to be able to demonstrate his/her knowledge?
___	___	4.	Does the student have significant difficulty with planning, organization and performing school-related assignments and other activities?
___	___	5.	Is the student chronically absent or tardy due to a physical or mental impairment?
___	___	6.	If so, are those absences/tardies significantly interfering with his/her educational performance/progress?
___	___	7.	Does the student exhibit frequent behaviors (such as impulsivity, inattentiveness, aggression, drowsiness) that are commonly associated with the student's physical or mental impairment or the medication that the student is taking? If yes, describe those behaviors and indicate specifically the impact on school performance. _____ _____ _____
___	___	8.	Do those behaviors significantly interfere with the student's educational performance/progress?
