West Virginia Comprehensive Interim Assessments (CIAs)

Subject(s) Assessed

English language arts (ELA) and mathematics in Grades 3-8

Purpose of the Assessment

Two different kinds of CIAs are available for districts and schools to use – a Computer-Adaptive Comprehensive Interim Assessment (CA-CIA) and a Fixed-Form Comprehensive Interim Assessment (FF-CIA). These assessments may be administered at the beginning of the school year as a pre-test to measure what students know and are able to do in relation to the content standards at each grade level and then administered later in the school year to measure how much improvement students have made following instruction. The results give students, teachers, and families meaningful information on students' initial knowledge and skills level. This information is used to plan instruction throughout the year to ensure that students make progress toward college and career readiness.

Requirement for the Assessment

Optional – Districts and schools may – but are not required to – administer the CIAs.

Amount of Time to Complete the Assessment

The CIAs are untimed tests that takes approximately 1-2 hours for each content test session. The ELA test consists of two sessions, including one session that consists of an extended writing task.

Scheduled Assessment Window

Districts decide when the CIAs are administered. The CIAs often are administered in the fall prior to instruction and/or mid-year as a checkpoint on student proficiency prior to taking the WVGSA.

Districts and schools may set their own testing schedules according to their needs.

Time and Format for Dissemination of Results

Results begin appearing in the Cambium Reporting System immediately after students have completed the assessment. District and school personnel can access these results and analyze data at the district, school, classroom roster, and individual student level.

Districts and schools must ensure that students with the most significant cognitive disabilities can participate in county-required assessments or provide an equivalent alternate assessment for these students.
